

Eva-Maria Poptcheva

MULTILEVEL CITIZENSHIP

THE RIGHT TO CONSULAR PROTECTION OF EU CITIZENS ABROAD

P.I.E. Peter Lang

Table of Contents

Preface	9
Abbreviations	13
Acknowledgements	15
CHAPTER I
Complexity vs. Relevance of Consular Protection	17
CHAPTER II
Conceptualising ‘Consular Protection’	29
1. Framing the Issue	29
2. Multilevel Context of Consular Protection	29
3. Consular Assistance vs. Consular Protection	68
4. Conclusions	74
CHAPTER III
Multilevel Citizenship as a Source of Fundamental Rights	77
1. Framing the Issue	77
2. The Constitutional Relationship between Union Citizenship and Union Citizenship Rights	81
3. Subjective Rights in EU Law	89
4. Preliminary Considerations on the Right to Consular Protection as a Subjective Right	97
5. Conclusions	108
CHAPTER IV
Enjoyment of the Right to Consular Protection	111
1. Direct Effect of Union Citizenship.....	111
2. Conditionality of Consular Protection?	118
3. The Right to Consular Protection as a Fundamental Right under the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights	132
4. Conclusions	139
CHAPTER V
Holders of the Right to Consular Protection	141

1. ‘Unrepresented’ European Union Citizens.....	141
2. Family Members who are not Union Citizens	157
3. Third Country Nationals Enjoying Consular Protection by a Member State.....	167
4. Conclusions	169
CHAPTER VI
Substantive Scope of the Right to Consular Protection.....	171
1. A Mere Right to Equal Treatment?.....	171
2. The ‘If’ and ‘How’ of Consular Protection	174
3. National Rules on Consular Protection	175
4. Scope of Coverage and Limits to the Right to Consular Protection	191
5. Conclusions	205
CHAPTER VII
Guarantees of the Right to Consular Protection.....	209
1. Judicial Guarantees of the Right to Consular Protection	209
2. Non-Judicial Guarantees	214
3. Conclusions	221
CHAPTER VIII
Consular Protection by the European Union	223
1. Political and Legal Background of the Consolidation of the EU Action Abroad	223
2. Consular Protection or Consular Coordination by EEAS?	228
3. Conclusions	231
CHAPTER IX
Proposal for a Directive on Consular Protection	233
1. Legal Basis and Procedure for the Adoption of a Directive on Consular Protection	233
2. Is a Directive on Consular Protection Necessary?	235
3. Possible Content of a Directive on Consular Protection	237
4. The European Parliament’s Position	245
5. Transposition Requirements	247
6. Conclusions	250
CHAPTER X
Final Remarks	253
Bibliography	263