

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88741-0 - Expounding the Constitution: Essays in Constitutional Theory

Edited by Grant Huscroft

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

Preface	page vii
Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
Grant Huscroft
PART I. MORALITY AND THE ENTERPRISE OF INTERPRETATION
2 What Does Constitutional Interpretation Interpret?	21
Steven D. Smith
2 Do Judges Reason Morally?	38
Jeremy Waldron
3 Constitutional Morality and Bills of Rights	65
W.J. Waluchow
4 Justification and Rights Limitations	93
Bradley W. Miller
PART II. JUDICIAL REVIEW, LEGITIMACY, AND JUSTIFICATION
5 Constitutions, Judicial Review, Moral Rights, and Democracy: Disentangling the Issues	119
Larry Alexander
6 The Incoherence of Constitutional Positivism	138
David Dyzenhaus
7 The Travails of Justice Waldron	161
James Allan
8 Deference or Defiance? The Limits of the Judicial Role in Constitutional Adjudication	184
Aileen Kavanagh

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-88741-0 - Expounding the Constitution: Essays in Constitutional Theory

Edited by Grant Huscroft

Table of Contents

More information

vi

Contents

PART III. WRITTEN AND UNWRITTEN CONSTITUTIONAL PRINCIPLES

9	Constitutional Justice and the Concept of Law	219
	T.R.S. Allan
10	Written Constitutions and Unwritten Constitutionalism	245
	Mark D. Walters
11	Unwritten Constitutional Principles	277
	Jeffrey Goldsworthy
	Index	313