

Contents

	Acknowledgments	page xi
	Table of cases	xiii
	List of abbreviations	xvii
1	Introduction	1
2	The need for collective action in the management of transboundary resources	22
3	States as collective actors	43
4	The transnational conflict paradigm: structural failures and responses	64
5	Transnational institutions for transboundary ecosystem management: defining the tasks and the constraints	101
6	The structure and procedure of institutions for transboundary ecosystem management	131
7	The development of positive international law on transboundary ecosystems: a critical analysis	156
8	Efficiency, custom, and the evolution of international law on transboundary resources	201
9	Conclusion	232
	Bibliography	236
	Index	264